

Truce in Java

Dario barracks and Dario station, where the most bitter fighting took place, radioed: "Running out of ammunition. Unless you send help we'll be overrun."

One British company detailed eight men to protect a jail where there were 25 Dutch women and children. The company commander reported that he heard several shots at the jail followed by screams and said he feared the building had been overrun and the inmates killed.

Sookarno rushed to Soerabaya in an RAF plane in an attempt to get the natives to halt the fighting.

A few with Sookarno and two of his cabinet into Soerabaya and returned to Batavia in the only plane to get in and out of the naval base. When we arrived we found the air-traffic under fire and held by a thin patch of British marines.

STILL SOME FIRING
As a result of the subsequent truce firing died down. The headquarters area of the British 40th Brigade and in the centre and southwestern portions of Soerabaya. Some firing still was going on in other areas of the city, but it was reported that the situation generally was quieter.

The first six hours of the battle were known to have taken the life of an Indian soldier. A British officer and several Indian soldiers were reported wounded. It still was not clear what had touched off the outbreak. Leaflets had been dropped on the city carrying orders to turn in their weapons by Wednesday under penalty of death. British army officers thought the leaflets might have been a partial cause of the clash.

MYSTERY MAN PLEES

A mysterious Indonesian whose name has been linked with the hostilities, named Mostopa, was reported to have fled the naval base. A British senior staff officer said that when he informed Sookarno last night at what had happened, the national leader had said that Mostopa held no official position in the native movement for independence from Dutch colonial control.

Dr. Boomer Dies

Montreal, in 1921, and his PhD. from the same institution in 1923. He was Ramsey Memorial Fellow working under Lord Rutherford in the Canadian laboratory in Cambridge, England.

He was elected fellow of the Royal Society of Canada in 1928. Early this year Dr. Boomer went to Germany under the auspices of the Dominion government to study the all industry in northwestern Germany. He was one of two Canadians included in an inspection party of about 50 British and American oil experts.

HIT OIL OUTPUT

On his return to Edmonton he said strategic Allied air bombardment in the last year put the German natural and synthetic oil production "on the rocks," causing the Nazi shortage of fuel to "grow like a snowball" so that they couldn't have fought much longer.

He was unmarried. Born in Vancouver, he is survived by his mother in the coast city; four brothers, Rodney, Frank and Bruce, all of Vancouver, and William of San Francisco; two sisters, Mrs. Catherine Wilson and Miss Ann Boomer, both of Vancouver.

Dr. Boomer made a unique contribution to the life and work of the University of Alberta. Started in 1928, he rapidly built up a reputation as a scientist and chemical engineer, which placed him in the very front rank of his profession.

Under his leadership, chemical engineering grew into one of the most popular branches of study in the university. Widened recognition naturally brought him many attractive offers to go elsewhere, especially to important industrial posts, but loyalty to his students and to scientific research always held him in his post in this university.

He was laid heavy responsibilities upon him, both in directing research in his own laboratory and in technical advisory work to Allied war supplies. The Dominion government corporation which established munition plants throughout the country.

WON APPRECIATION

During the last two years, his part-time work as chairman of the natural gas conservation board and his appreciation of both government authorities and operations. Last spring he was one of the first Canadian scientists to enter Germany in the wake of the retreating German army, in search of technical information. Distinguished alike for competence and willingness, Dr. Boomer was charged with many tasks and spent untold hours in his country's service. His death leaves an irreparable gap in the ranks of the scientific staff.

Dr. Newton on Monday received the following telegram from Dr. C. MacKenzie, chairman of the National Research Council:
"Have just heard the sad news of Dr. Boomer's death. His many friends at the National Research Council wish to express their deepest sympathy for the loss of a great scientist and most valued colleague."

Which Shall It Be—

Your own home, or "down the road" in your old age?

There's no substitute for financial independence at any time; and there's no substitute for Life Insurance as a means to insure this independence in old age—or for your family until they become self-supporting.

Men and women will always prefer to provide for their own and their dependents' future. This determination to be independent is why tens of thousands of Canadians own Confederation Life insurance and pension bonds.

Plans may include monthly income total disability benefits.

What Is This Citizens' Committee?

- The Citizens' Committee is a group of representative citizens chosen each year by a public meeting to which ALL CITIZENS are invited. This year's public meeting was advertised in both city dailies, as usual, and was held in the Corona Hotel on the evening of September 6, 1945.
- The citizens who were present chose from their numbers the following executives and delegated to them the task of obtaining candidates and supporting their campaign:
Mrs. J. H. Acheson Murray Hamilton Harry Patinkin
G. W. Auxier Percy Herring Gordon Skinner
Carl Berg Al Hetherington W. D. Spence
Frank Booth Duncan Innes Dr. John Verchomin
L. Col. R. A. Bradburn Con Johnson George Watt
A. L. Burrows Douglas Jones Francis Winspear
Robert W. Chapman Elmer Logan Jack Weber
A. Fraser Duncan Walter McLaren Albert Whitman
John Esail J. Percy Page
- The above executive for 1945, known as the Citizens' Committee, will disband finally the day after the election. Next year, the secretary will call another public meeting to form a brand-new Citizens' Committee. You will be invited in the usual way.
- The Citizens' Committee exacts no pledge of any candidate; it cannot interfere with them after election. Around the committee does not then exist. Candidates, past and present, will testify that no attempt to control them has ever been made by the Committee or any of its members, either before or after election.
- The members of the Citizens' Committee believe that their function should be confined to persuading citizens of character and ability as those nominated today, to seek election, and to support their election campaign. The rest is between the candidates themselves and the voters of this city. That is democracy in the best sense.
- The Citizens' Committee has no connection with any POLITICAL party or any other organization, directly or indirectly. Its members are members of other organizations, of course, but no special considerations are taken into account.
- The Citizens' Committee depends on voluntary subscriptions from the citizens of EDMONTON. Funds are urgently needed. Your contribution, large or small, will be welcome at Campaign Headquarters on Jasper at 105th Street.
- Further information may be obtained at Campaign Headquarters. Telephones: 29379, 29387 and 29392.

Victory Loan

amounted to $1,782,700 from 28,226 subscribers. In the eighth loan sales were $18,372,000, $1,174,178 more than the previous record.

Investors, National war finance officials say that this indicates fewer people are buying bonds but those that are purchasing them are taking them in greatly increased quantities.

In the special names division 64 applications amounted to $2,100,000, as against 60 applications for sales of $2,093,000 during the last loan.

Sales in Edmonton during the first week of this loan totalled 32,352,600 from 7,500 subscribers, 20.6 per cent of the $7,500,000 quota set for this loan. In the eighth loan 28,226 subscribers were 8,028 and the quota subscribed $2,093,000 for 32.3 per cent of the quota for that loan.

Top city salesman on Saturday was J. W. Warty, A. E. Dingle and George Kellie.

Winner of the bond draw Saturday night was J. O. Wilberell, 18111 101 street. The lucky ticket was drawn by Miss Elizabeth Byssick, 12503 43 street.

Adding to their outstanding record in Canada's Ninth Victory loan campaign Army personnel stationed in Alberta subscribed $1,170,000 in the first week of the campaign to attain 25 per cent of their objective.

MAINTAIN PACE
Determined to maintain the purchasing pace that featured their activity in the first week of the 9th Victory Loan campaign, personnel at North West Air Command, Royal Canadian Air Force were driving toward new objectives as the second week of the drive opened this morning.

Every unit forming the air force command has gone over the top and new objectives set. Dawson Creek continues to lead in the sale of bonds, having subscribed a figure of $253,500, almost three times the original quota for that unit. The RCAF station at Fort St. John has trebled its original quota of $25,000.

At Grande Prairie the original quota was $6,500. Bonds totalling $11,500 have been sold.

With an original quota of $10,000 the men serving at Fort Nelson have subscribed to the sale of $15,850 and Watson Lake has gone over the top by $950 over its $10,000 objective. The RCAF unit at Whitehorse had an original goal to shoot at of $16,000, and at the end of business on Saturday had topped that figure by $2,500.

The showing at North West Air Command Headquarters, Edmonton continues good. With the Victory Loan pennants already flying, Wing Cmdr. Howie Watson, Victory Loan organizer for the headquarters unit, predicts a third pennant will be held before Friday of this week, which will indicate that the Edmonton unit has reached its self-imposed objective of 200 per cent of its original quota of $30,000.

At the end of business on Saturday the unit at North West Air Command Headquarters had purchased 984 loan bonds totalling $18,400, or 25 per cent of the quota.

The public has already been found to be of tremendous value to victory surgeons, the speaker said, as he pointed out that it is "the most powerful and least irritating anti-inflationary agent available to the public today."

THANK OFFERING
BATTLE, Sussex, Eng.—(CP)—As a thank offering for victory in the Battle of Britain, Col. T. B. Hornbrough presented British rural district council with a gift of $200,000, with eight acres of ground overlooking the countryside above which many air duels were fought.

THE GLORY ROAD HOME—Sirens in Esquimalt, B.C., from a score of naval craft shrieked a wild welcome to more than 1,300 Canadian and British liberated prisoners of war as the great aircraft carrier HMS Glory nosed into her berth. Shown here in the giant vessel, decks lined with cheering men who spent almost four years as Jap prisoners.

SAD HOME COMING—For Pte. John E. James, Winnipeg Grenadiers, it was home at last. As the big ship HMS Glory let down her gangplank at Esquimalt, B.C., the first man ashore was James who hobbled down, his face wreathed in smiles. This was his happiest day after four years as Jap prisoner of war. He didn't even wait for the "go ashore" signal but with a steady arm on his crutch sped down to meet his mother and brother. "Where's Dad?" was his first question. His young brother burst into tears. Dad had died a year ago. When Grenadier James reached his crying mother his smile had gone and the little trio moved off silently through the milling throng of cheering, shouting people. Pte. James lives at Crescent Beach, B.C. During the bitter fighting at Hong Kong, he lost one leg and was captured on Christmas Day, 1941.

called on Gen. Douglas MacArthur today. Japanese sources said he asked for modification of MacArthur's demand for the immediate recall of all Japanese diplomatic representatives abroad.

The Japanese contend that the directive would shake Japan in diplomatic functions, particularly with neutral states. They admitted that the government held little hope of getting the order countermanded altogether, but did hope for leniency.

The allied official who cannot be identified charged that in the two months of allied occupation Japanese leadership had been weak and unsteady. He attributed part of the blame to the Japanese people themselves.

REALISTIC ACTION—"Very afternoon," he said, "you can see hundreds of persons lined up for the movies while they should be trying to help themselves by gathering sheet iron and other usable debris in order to build some kind of shelter for the winter."

Informed quarters did not doubt that MacArthur was dealing with

South Man Heads Weekly Publishers

CALGARY, Oct. 28.—(CP)—A. H. Avery of The Taber Times was elected president of the Alberta branch of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Publishers Association at their annual convention here Saturday.

Mr. Avery replaces Clyde C. Jessup of Nanton News, last year's president. Other officers elected were C. B. Brown of the Brooks Bulletin, first vice-president; William Miller of the Olds Gazette, second vice-president; C. A. Clark of the High River Times, re-elected secretary.

Members elected to the executive were William Drayner of the Wetaskiwin Times, B. Pieschke of the political situation in a realistic way.

An officer said the U.S. State Department wants a constitution, democratic Japan. "A decent country that would live peacefully with the world."

He said Emperor Hirohito was not likely to abdicate, or even to consider such a move seriously until a new constitution is adopted. The average conservative Japanese statesman finds it hard to grasp the principles of democracy, the officer said.

Premier Atlee May Go to U.S. For Atom Talks

By W. R. HIGGINBOTHAM

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(BUP)—Reports reached here today that Prime Minister Atlee may go to Washington early next month to discuss personally with President Truman the atomic bomb and other pressing international problems.

Pressure was rising in Common for Atlee to make a full statement on the atomic bomb and the prospects of Anglo-American conferences on its control.

Parliamentary quarters expected that the British cabinet would go over the matter soon possibly to morrow but that Atlee himself would resist any full statement for the present.

APPROVE SPEECH—The British press generally voiced approval of President Truman's Navy Day speech, but wanted to know more about his plans for control of atomic energy.

The Times applauded the attitude that attempted exclusivity of knowledge of the atom bomb would be futile.

"No new device in peace-making is to be looked for," it said. "What the coming of the atomic bomb demands is new urgency and intensity in efforts already being made to save the world from self-destruction."

The Daily Sketch said, "any fear that America was drifting into a policy of isolation has been dispelled."

paired with $422,000,000 for the opening week of the eighth campaign. Saturday sales alone were $93,000, 700 against $75,000,700.

COMPARATIVE FIGURES—As of Saturday total sales to individuals reached $266,700,000 towards the general sales and payroll purchase objective of $800,000,000. The figure compared with $21,100,000 at the corresponding date last spring.

In general payroll savings purchases the British Columbia-Yukon provincial area climbed to 38.8 per cent of its quota. Manitoba had 53.3 per cent, and Prince Edward Island was in third place with 43.3 per cent.

Nova Scotia was not far below its neighbor, with 42.2 per cent, and Ontario's 41.3 per cent brought it only slightly above the third Marlinton, New Brunswick, which had 40.2 per cent. Next came Quebec, with 38 per cent, almost tied with Alberta's 37.7. Saskatchewan, whose crops have "taken it on the chin" worse than any others in Canada, had achieved only 27.39 per cent of quota thus far, but was making untiring efforts to fulfill her complete objective.

program with two days' work," he asserted. Mr. Stewart criticized Canada's immigration laws which, he said, are based on race. As far as the Japanese-Canadians were concerned, he said, the immediate problem is to prevent their deportation. During a question period, he said none of them had been found guilty of committing acts of treason during the war.

Urges Elimination Of Ban on Chinese

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(CP)—Lifting of Canada's bar against Chinese immigrants would improve relations between the two countries and help Canada develop her natural resources, Dr. Chen Li Chen, personal representative of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, said in an interview here Saturday.

Strife in China

Communist have launched at least three general offensives and already have seized four important cities and 13 districts in Shansi and Suiyuan provinces.

COUNTER CLAIMS—Each group accused the other of being the aggressor.

There appeared some danger that the civil war would spread to newly-liberated Manchuria. A British United Press dispatch from Huihiao said withdrawing Soviet forces were turning over Manchuria territory to Chinese Communist troops.

Nulitao said any attempt by central government forces to occupy Manchuria before a complete settlement had been reached with the Communist regime at Yenan would be fought on the beaches and at the Great Wall.

Marshal Yen Hui-Shan, central government governor of Shansi province in north-central China, said as many as 30 engagements have been fought every day since Japan's surrender in his province.

ATTACKS JUNCTION—More than 50,000 Communists now were attacking the government-held railway junction of Taitung in northern Shansi, Yen said, but his forces were holding firm.

Yen said the Communists had added 15 districts of Shansi since Japan's surrender to the 17 they held previously. Seventy-five districts remained in Yen's hands.

Yen, in Chungking to report to Chiang for the first time in eight years, said his forces were fighting only in self-defence.

Northeast of Shansi, central government forces reported they had abandoned the communications centres of Fengchen and Liangcheng in the inner Mongolian province of Suiyuan in the face of a general offensive by 100,000 Communist troops.

ABANDON CITIES—Headquarters of Gen. Fu Tzu-Yi, commander of the 13th war zone, reported that he ordered the abandonment of the cities "voluntarily, to preserve the peace."

Fu charged that the Communists launched their offensive

Atrocities Told

Japanese War Criminal Put on Trial for Life

MANILA, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, on trial for his life on war criminal charges, sat grim-faced and attentive today while a pretty Filipino woman testified that Japanese in his Philippines command shot her, bayoneted her infant daughter, and stabbed her nine times in a bloody orgy in Manila last February.

The trial opened this morning before a United States military commission with an exchange of legal defence. Defence counsel consistently was overruled in its efforts to block the trial of Japan's No. 1 war lord in the Philippines.

Patricia Abad, 30, with an arm in a sling, recounted a tale of savagery and bloodlust of four Japanese sailors who were part of the Manila defence command.

Yamashita wore banks of ribbons against Fengchen and Liangcheng only one week after the Communist Leader Mao Tse-Tung returned to his headquarters in Yenan from preliminary unity talks with Chiang at Chungking.

The civil war in Suiyuan actually began Aug. 11, however, when Communists captured Tsinghsu after killing 300 of Pu's men in battle, his headquarters said.

The New China Daily sought to blame fault for fighting in Suiyuan on Pu. The Communist newspaper said government forces found the shot and "determined to annihilate the Eighth Army, already have annihilated 1,500 of us."

on his grey green open-collared shirt as the trial opened.

Mr. Abad, on verge of tears, said the four Japanese ran amok for more than an hour in the Philippine Red Cross building where 100 women and children had taken refuge.

She said she was shot through the right elbow and bayoneted one time through the body while she cowered behind a medicine cabinet. Three times the bayonet passed through her body and wounded her 10-month-old daughter, whom she was clutching, she testified. The infant died.

More than 50 women and children were slaughtered by Japanese, she told the commission.

Canadian military headquarters Saturday had a word of cheer for Canadian servicemen "sweating out" his discharge in the United Kingdom or on the continent. Effective Nov. 1 headquarters said, Canadian servicemen can draw 900 cigarettes monthly. They now are entitled to 600 a month.

Canteen was darkened last night—closing after a fine, long run. As the last dance began, the battered old juke box softly played "Good-night Sweetheart," a nightly finale for the more than 3,000,000 servicemen entertained at the canteen since March 2, 1942. About 750 guests were on hand for the closing.

OSHAWA, Oct. 29—The Oldsmobile for 1948 will offer a perfected hydra-matic drive as an option as well as many other features designed to improve performance and appearance. General Motors of Canada, Ltd., announced today.

*The 1946 model is a new car, not merely a modification of the 1945. It offers new styling, new features, finer performance and quality. The new General Motors hydraulic drive eliminates the clutch pedal and gives fully automatic shifting through four forward speeds. Hydra-matic drive underwent extensive improvements during the war and is basically similar to units used on army tanks and other military vehicles.

Outwardly the new cars combine rugged strength with sweeping streamlined design. A new ornament is now mounted on the side of the fenders, accentuating the car's low appearance. It also serves as a body protection from doors of other cars. This ornament is die-cast and bolted securely to the fender.

Both the 100 hp. six-cylinder engine and the 110 hp. eight-cylinder engine have electro-hardened aluminum alloy pistons. That's good news. Much progress during the war was made in aluminum piston design. Made of high strength aluminum, the new Oldsmobile pistons are light in weight and give top performance. This means less bearing wear, longer engine life and quieter, livelier and WINNIPEG, Oct. 29—(CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers completed their series of exhibition games against U.S. Collegiate teams here Saturday afternoon with a lopsided 40-7 victory.

The win gave Bombers three victories and one loss against the college teams, their only defeat having been in the first game against Minot College; they also have a 22-0 triumph over Regina.

Winnipeg now waits to meet the winner of the two-game western semi-finals between Calgary Stampede and Regina Roughriders. Calgary took the first game Saturday 3-1.

Saturday's football exhibition was ample evidence that Winnipeg players have become familiar with the Flyers scored all of their goals within a period of six minutes. Fido Purpur, Dave Baker and Morve Rimalad registered the St. Louis goals.

Under the American code during the first half they ran up a 19-lead on touchdowns by Lloyd Boivin, Chess McCance and Dann Summers.

Trip Is Delayed Storm Smashes Barrel Of Hopeful Navigators

SYDNEY, N.S., Oct. 26.—(CP)—Though a roaring gale that lashed Sydney harbor Saturday battered the "beer barrel" boat unmercifully and postponed his trans-Atlantic take-off for a few days, Mark Charlton says he isn't a bit discouraged about the whole thing.

Charlton, 28-year-old English-born tinsmith and former resident of Toronto and Vancouver, had expected to go another week sail for Britain today in his 10-foot barrel craft, along with his first mate, 62-year-old Peter Olsen of Norway, but the storm changed that plan and halted at least temporarily this attempt of the modern Columbus to write a new chapter in the story of the sea.

The two adventurers were attempting to navigate their craft to the sheltered side of the wharf Saturday when a gale of wind and a heavy sea slammed the barrel into a crew, cracked the spar and tore away the rigging, springing the seams in the barrel hull.

BARREL SMASHED

The storm which played havoc with the barrel, and which many think is a forerunner of things to come, failed to damage the sailors' enthusiasm.

"If we had never happened if we had been at sea," Charlton said, "when it gets rough out there we'll just pull things in and ride the waves like a cork."

Charlton arrived here a few months ago with the solid oak barrel, which was manufactured in Watford, Ont. He filled his little craft with a 25-hp. motor, a four-foot keel that weighed 700 pounds and a rudder that measured three feet 11 inches. The craft is 10 feet long, six feet nine inches at the bilge, and weighs more than two tons. It cost $2,500 to build and equip, according to Charlton.

Charlton found a mate to accompany him on the hazardous voyage in the person of Peter Olsen, veteran sailor and sailmaker who wants to get back to Norway to visit his brother and sister and "couldn't think of any better and safer way of getting there" than to cross the unorthodox barrel.

SAFE AS LINER

"She's as safe as the Queen Mary," Olsen said. "Anyway, I felt sorry for this poor fellow Charlton. You know, he hasn't had much sailing experience."

Charlton had equipped his barrel with two small kamikaze, a charcoal stove, a motorcycle to use when he reaches Britain, batteries and electric lights, and concentrated food. He expects to make the trip in 40 days sailing time, with the favorable prevailing westerly winds but is not for a longer voyage if necessary.

Mixed Reaction Greets Truman Navy Day Talk

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(Reuters)—

Morning newspapers today were divided in their views on President Truman's Navy Day speech to the United States foreign policy with some approving and others finding it disappointing.

The Daily Telegraph commented that Mr. Truman had not clarified how he proposed to realize the "unexceptionable principles" of the speech.

"There is a sharp contrast between these principles and the disastrous situation described by Mr. Bevin last Friday," The Daily Telegraph added. (Foreign Secretary Bevin said in the House of Commons last Friday that Europe faced privation which might prove worse than the atom bomb).

NO DEFINITE PLAN

"Apart from Mr. Truman's announcement of easy discussions on the atomic bomb—discussions which will concern only its control, not its service—there is no mention of concrete plans and intentions."

The Daily Express said the speech was the best possible news for the world as it showed that the United States was not going to relinquish any of her responsibilities for maintenance of peace.

Appraising the 12 principles which Mr. Truman declared to be fundamental to his system of foreign policy, The Times said that there was nothing in this creed to which British policy could not subscribe with a whole heart.

"But, as commentators in the United States have already pointed out, the difficulties in international affairs are all concerned with the application rather than the enunciation of principles," the paper added.

POINTS CONFLICT

A Russian critic, while accepting Mr. Truman's general statement of policy, pointed out that some of the 12 points must in their application conflict with the preservation of collective security, for instance, with the right of self-determination as it is understood in the west.

"It is of the first importance that the Russian case should be understood and soberly appraised," The Times said. "The consequences of mutual suspicion between the major allies is the deadliest danger of all."

The Manchester Guardian termed the speech "misapprehending" and not an auspicious opening to what he calls the atomic age.

So far as anyone knows, he's still there—and living, if it is.

27 Trains Carried Liner's Passengers

HALIFAX, Oct. 26.—(CP)—

Departure of the last trainload of troops from the Queen Elizabeth Saturday concluded the largest and most difficult movement of its type in the history of the Canadian National Railway. J. P. Johnson, vice-president and general manager of the Atlantic region said in an interview here Saturday.

Twenty-seven special trains were required to move the more than 12,000 servicemen and civilian passengers aboard the big liner when she docked here Friday, with a trainload moving out on clockwork schedule every hour.

Included in the movement was the first complete boat train to leave Halifax since the start of the war. The train, consisting of 13 diners, sleepers and passenger cars, left at two o'clock Saturday with a large group of civilian passengers, including many high-ranking business leaders from Britain here to speed the revival of Empire trade. The passengers were bound for points as far west as Vancouver in Canada, and as far south as Washington in the United States.

Mr. Johnson said that the movement of personnel from the Queen Elizabeth was undoubtedly the largest that had occurred in its history, and that arrangements were perfect. There was no confusion and the train left exactly on schedule.

Army Deserters In Quebec Get Short Sentence

EAST BROUGHTON, Que., Oct. 26.—(CP)—Ludger Dionne, Liberal member of parliament for Beauport, held a political meeting here Sunday that some army deserters from his county who had voluntarily given themselves up were being set free after 28 days of detention, while in other provinces sentences ran sometimes to several months.

Mr. Dionne, speaking in support of Henri Renaud, Liberal candidate in the Beauce constituency provincial by-election of Nov. 21, said that Quebec Liberals in parliament would seek to have a policy adopted of releasing such cases.

Explaining to reporters after the meeting, he said that on his assurance that they would have to serve only 28 days, about 50 deserters had given themselves up on Sept. 10. About 20 of them had already been so released though their sentences were for a longer period. They had been sent into the bush where they were needed for lumbering operations.

QUESTION IN HOUSE

Mr. Dionne said that he had obtained a promise from Quebec district military officers that the deserters would serve only 28 days in the last days after they had given themselves up, however, a question was asked of the government in Parliament as to what punishments were being meted out in each province.

As a result, in keeping with policy in other provinces, sentences of several months had been given in the Quebec province men.

Mr. Dionne said he had then spoken to National Defence Minister Abbott suggesting that a precedent had been set with the promise of only 28 days detention and any action but that suggested that the Beauce County member speak to the military authorities.

20 MEN FREED

"This, Mr. Dionne said, he had learned from the men had already been released on six-months' trial of leave to work in lumbering operations."

"He had asked for 750 men for lumbering operations and the 750 released deserters had been sent into the bush."

Peace Headquarters Will Be in States

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—

The United Nations executive committee approved Saturday a recommendation to establish the world peace agency in the United States. The resolution was approved without a vote. The committee recommended that a special committee be set up to decide on the site in the United States which will be the seat of the organization.

In the Commons that on Sept. 1 there were 11,145 NRMA deserters and 13,416 Canadian draft dodgers still at large. Of the deserters and absentees without leave 5,875 came from MD No. 5 (Quebec) and 2,790 from MD No. 4 (Montreal) and of the defaulters 5,847 came from Quebec and 2,387 from Ontario.

A few weeks ago a defence spokesman said that there would be no change of the army's policy of tracking down deserters and bringing them to trial and since then several members have spoken in the Commons in favour of giving amnesty for both defaulters and deserters.

WAR? WHAT WAR?

"SURE I supported the last eight Victory Loans. But that was during the war. We're safe now, aren't we? Then why another loan?"

Yes, Mr. S—, the war's over, and we're safe . . . we hope and pray forever. But have you forgotten? It seems only yesterday we were buying bonds for tanks and guns and ships and planes . . . even atomic bombs! You did not doubt them then, Mr. S— . Can you doubt them now?

Will you lend money to defeat an enemy, but not to help a friend? To build a tank, but not a hospital? To help men in fight, but not to recover from their wounds? To finance a war, but not its aftermath of broken bodies, shattered nerves and orphaned homes?

It was a fine thing to back our nation with the enemy at our throat. It is a finer thing to back it with him at our feet! This is the ninth and crucial Victory Loan. Canadians will buy bonds . . . again.

Legion Protesting Plan For Buildings

Final decision on what use the former Jesuit College buildings will be put to is likely to be made in the "next day or two," with the probability that premises not required for a hospital will be turned over to War Assets Corp. for disposal.

This was the information received Saturday by the Canadian Legion branch here from deputy minister of national defence, A. Ross, at Ottawa.

The Edmonton Legion immediately wired a strong protest to Ottawa over the proposal to place surplus buildings in the hands of War Assets Corp. contending this will mean a further long delay in having some 80 suites put in use for immediate housing needs.

The Legion asks that buildings not required for a hospital be placed under the direction of national housing administration and used for needs of homeless war veterans.

I trust that this statement will clarify the position of the Legion in relation to elections, municipal or otherwise."

• GO IN PEACE.

VADE IN PACE. Go in peace. But make no mistake. It is not a smooth, effortless journey without responsibilities. Only part of the job is done. You still have responsibilities towards the men who did the fighting.

VADE IN PACE. Go in peace. But that peace must be made secure and prosperous. Inflation must be averted. Canada's foreign trade markets, shattered by war, must be re-established and enlarged.

VADE IN PACE. Go in peace. But don't forget your duty as a citizen of the world towards mankind. There are suffering, starving people in Europe. We have plenty. They have nothing. Let's not forget that. *

VADE IN PACE. Go in peace. But that peace has to be faced and won with the same determination, the same courage, the same willingness to make sacrifices as you have shown in war.

VADE IN PACE. Go in peace. But endorse this 9th Victory Loan with the same generosity and goodwill of which you have given proof in the other loans. Prove your patriotism in good times as in bad times. Shout your faith in Canada with bonds. If our fighting men were willing to invest their lives, you should not hesitate to invest your dollars.

Wainwright's Story—No. 18 Final Preparations For Fall of Rock Made by Defenders

More Nurses Leave—Money is Burned or Hidden as Surrender to Japanese Becomes Ever More Certain Eighteenth of a series by Gen. Wainwright on the fall of the Philippines. Today's article describes the beginning of the end for Corregidor.—EDITOR.

By GENERAL JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT
(Copyright 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc., and The Edmonton Bulletin. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

On May 3, however, three days before the ultimate humiliation of Corregidor was forced upon me, we did manage to evacuate a fairly large party of nurses and officers by submarine.

I had learned from the navy several days previously that the submarine was in our waters and was preparing to return to Australia to replenish its torpedo supply. I arranged to have it come to Corregidor.

I surfaced just outside our mine field and we crammed 25 persons into its tight interior. Most of them were nurses, but there were some sailing officers, including Col. Pete Irwin, my assistant chief of staff (G-3). Irwin was suffering from typhoid which would have probably caused his death had he been captured. He remained in Washington after the grave-like silence of surrender had settled over The Rock, and was able to report on the battle for the island fortress until May 13.

I sent my favorite gun away from Corregidor on that day. It was a handsome Smith and Wesson revolver which had won more often on Batan than Corregidor than I had won my reputation as a service automobile.

I sent back to the States for the revolver shortly before the war. Now, when I feared it would soon be taken away from me, I wanted my son to have it. So I gave it to a Col. Savage of the first three who was leaving on the sub, and told him to take it home with him, and if in Manila, Wainwright and tell my wife to forward it to my son—a captain in the Merchant Marine. My son eventually received it and carried it through the war.

One of the most courageous acts of the entire campaign happened the night the submarine paid the last call to Corregidor. No one had worked harder or was more valuable to her country than Capt. Meyer, chief nurse of the hospital in the tunnel. I held Capt. Meyer's name included on the list of girls to be taken out by the submarine. She was the only nurse I specifically named.

But Col. Cooper came to me shortly after receiving my order and reported that Capt. Meyer had told him she did not choose to leave. "As long as there's typhoid in the hospital," she said, "I intend to stay and I intend to stay and I intend to stay." This was a truly great act of heroism. She knew as well as I that she was signing her captivity warrant.

After the submarine submerged and left, the last was turned on to beyond all observation. Without help we were sheltered from bombing especially along the northern side of the island which faced Bataan. One defending gun after another was smashed, as were all of the searchlights we were dependent upon to illuminate the nocturnal landing forces.

FLAG HIT AGAIN
The flag was hit again, near the reef, and so was the case when it suffered an earlier blow on Corregidor, men begged from cover to restore it to the top of its 100-foot pole.

This time, however, the fallen flag could not be run up from the ground. One of the four men who came to its aid—they had to climb not only through intense shelling but also were attacked by five dive bombers—climbed to the top of the swaying pole to fix the brazier.

The four brave men involved were Capt. Arthur E. Huff, in charge of an anti-air battery, Corp. Louis A. Roark, Plt. Roy O. Bailey and Pvt. Harley H. Laird. I awarded Silver Stars to them in the course of many last-minute decorations and citations to some of the most gallant fighting men and combat units the world has ever seen.

It did not seem possible that the tempo of the Jap shelling could possibly be increased. But on May 4 it reached its all-time high during a five-hour period from 7 a.m. until noon.

Major Gen. George F. Moore and I, making a careful check of that overwhelming artillery assault, discovered that the Jap batteries hit Corregidor with a 200-mm. gun shell every five seconds during the five-hour period. The big shells, which landed in and around us amid a shower of men, gun, tank and debris with sickening precision. They fell at the steady rate of 32 every minute, which meant 1,920 shells for the five hours, enough to fill 600 trucks.

INCREDIBLE HOURS
Major and I, driving further into the mathematics of the fury, estimated at the end of the five-hour period that the Japs had hit The Rock with 3,840,000 pounds of shells. These shells, which landed in the course of our last-minute decorations and citations to some of the most gallant fighting men and combat units the world has ever seen.

"Hostile air corps has bombed Corregidor relentlessly since 24 March. Enemy immediately employed artillery on south shore of peninsula following the fall of Batan on April 5 and since then has followed our defenses to artillery fire.

Beginning April 25 the Japanese built up a large force of troops and heavy equipment on the island of Luzon. This force was used to attack the Philippines. The Japanese had a large force of troops and heavy equipment on the island of Luzon. This force was used to attack the Philippines.

MORALE HOLDS UP

"Morale, however, is amazingly good, considering conditions under which troops are presently operating. Persistent reports from operating units show that morale is high. The Japs were very successful in their assault against Corregidor. He has prepared a large number of motor boats with mounted weapons and constructed large number of motor boats for troop transport. I have nothing on which to base an estimate of present hostile strength of troops on Luzon. However, the enemy in taking Cebu and Panay used about 20,000 men in each operation. He is now engaged in attack on Iloilo. I estimate that at least 10,000 men are engaged on Mindanao.

Japanese troops have been withdrawn from the Philippines. I believe sufficient force is left on Luzon to undertake an operation against Corregidor. In my opinion the enemy is capable of making an assault on Corregidor at any time.

"Success or failure of such an assault will depend entirely on the steadfastness of beach defense troops. Considering the present level of morale I estimate that we have something less than an even chance in a direct assault. I have given you in accordance with your request a very frank and honest opinion of the situation as I see it."

BURN CODE BOOKS

It was time to set to the burning of code books and secret papers, just as I had earlier found men of doing away with or burning Corregidor's wealth.

The gold reserve of the Philippines had been sent to the United States for safekeeping early in the war, but considering the wealth found in the island I still had responsibility for $140,000,000 in Philippine currency and $100,000,000 in highly negotiable value.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur instructed me to take down the serial numbers of the banknotes, radio the list to the treasury department in Washington, and cut up and burn the money. This we did.

When the job was done and the serial numbers had been radioed, we destroyed our lists of banknotes numbers, as did the Japanese. The Japanese moved the numbers on to Washington. These numbers eventually appeared on fresh Philippine bills, after the liberation—bills which the Japanese victory spelled out across their backs.

The silver coins, valued at $15,000,000, presented much more of a problem. Under the direction of Gen. Moore they were sealed in wooden boxes and for three successive nights these boxes were towed out into the bay on barges, and dropped at a carefully surveyed point between Corregidor and Fort Hughes. The location of the silver on such occasions as we were forced to make, was radioed in Washington and all documents pertaining thereto were burned.

UNDER QUESTIONING

This was not the last I was to hear of the silver. During the early days of my captivity I was constantly questioned about it. The Japs knew we had hid it in the bay, but they never found out where it was hidden. It took no mental gain to figure out by May 3, 1942, that the enemy was ready to invade Corregidor. For further confirmation of my beliefs, I had a courageous Philippine army officer posted in Manila with a clandestine radio. At our first meeting, he reported in great detail the Japanese Fourth Division had landed on the shores of Cebu, near our old naval base.

The further revelation was that the Japs were constructing thousands of bamboo ladders at a place near Manila to be used in scaling them one by one across the cliffs of Corregidor.

Just at dusk on one of our final evenings on The Rock an observer posted on the highest point on Corregidor reported a flotilla of small, self-propelled boats attempting to slip into Marikina Bay on the tip of Bataan. They were just clearing Marikina Point when spotted.

LAST GUNS IN ACTION
Our remaining three-inch guns and our single big mortar opened fire and dispersed the flotilla.

The moon was another tipoff. The four day attacks on my left rear flank had come during the rise of previous full moons, which stimulated the batteries.

The moon approached full scale during the early days of May and we knew that it was our last night of the coming attack. Our troops along the beaches and in the ruined and abandoned batteries were alerted.

At 8 o'clock on the night of May 3 Jap batteries on Bataan opened up furiously against our position. After a short time, a tremendous concentration of fire which caused ### ed many casualties and drove many defenders inland to cover.

I watched the shelling from a point near the east end of Marikina camp where I had a small observation post. I saw the Japs were very successful in their assault against Corregidor. He has prepared a large number of motor boats with mounted weapons and constructed large number of motor boats for troop transport. I have nothing on which to base an estimate of present hostile strength of troops on Luzon. However, the enemy in taking Cebu and Panay used about 20,000 men in each operation. These numbers eventually appeared on fresh Philippine bills, after the liberation—bills which the Japanese victory spelled out across their backs.

The silver coins, valued at $15,000,000, presented much more of a problem. Under the direction of Gen. Moore they were sealed in wooden boxes and for three successive nights these boxes were towed out into the bay on barges, and dropped at a carefully surveyed point between Corregidor and Fort Hughes. The location of the silver on such occasions as we were forced to make, was radioed in Washington and all documents pertaining thereto were burned.

UNDER QUESTIONING
This was not the last I was to hear of the silver. During the early days of my captivity I was constantly questioned about it. The Japs knew we had hid it in the bay, but they never found out where it was hidden. It took no mental gain to figure out by May 3, 1942, that the enemy was ready to invade Corregidor. For further confirmation of my beliefs, I had a courageous Philippine army officer posted in Manila with a clandestine radio. At our first meeting, he reported in great detail the Japanese Fourth Division had landed on the shores of Cebu, near our old naval base.

The further revelation was that the Japs were constructing thousands of bamboo ladders at a place near Manila to be used in scaling them one by one across the cliffs of Corregidor.

Just at dusk on one of our final evenings on The Rock an observer posted on the highest point on Corregidor reported a flotilla of small, self-propelled boats attempting to slip into Marikina Bay on the tip of Bataan. They were just clearing Marikina Point when spotted.

LAST GUNS IN ACTION
Our remaining three-inch guns and our single big mortar opened fire and dispersed the flotilla.

The moon was another tipoff. The four day attacks on my left rear flank had come during the rise of previous full moons, which stimulated the batteries.

The moon approached full scale during the early days of May and we knew that it was our last night of the coming attack. Our troops along the beaches and in the ruined and abandoned batteries were alerted.

At 8 o'clock on the night of May 3 Jap batteries on Bataan opened up furiously against our position. After a short time, a tremendous concentration of fire which caused ed many casualties and drove many defenders inland to cover. I watched the shelling from a point near the east end of Marikina camp where I had a small observation post. I saw the Japs were very successful in their assault against Corregidor. He has prepared a large number of motor boats with mounted weapons and constructed large number of motor boats for troop transport. I have nothing on which to base an estimate of present hostile strength of troops on Luzon. However, the enemy in taking Cebu and Panay used about 20,000 men in each operation. He is now engaged in attack on Iloilo. I estimate that at least 10,000 men are engaged on Mindanao.

Japanese troops have been withdrawn from the Philippines. I believe sufficient force is left on Luzon to undertake an operation against Corregidor. In my opinion the enemy is capable of making an assault on Corregidor at any time.

"Success or failure of such an assault will depend entirely on the steadfastness of beach defense troops. Considering the present level of morale I estimate that we have something less than an even chance in a direct assault. I have given you in accordance with your request a very frank and honest opinion of the situation as I see it."

BURN CODE BOOKS

It was time to set to the burning of code books and secret papers, just as I had earlier found men of doing away with or burning Corregidor's wealth.

The gold reserve of the Philippines had been sent to the United States for safekeeping early in the war, but considering the wealth found in the island I still had responsibility for $140,000,000 in Philippine currency and $100,000,000 in highly negotiable value.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur instructed me to take down the serial numbers of the banknotes, radio the list to the treasury department in Washington, and cut up and burn the money. This we did.

When the job was done and the serial numbers had been radioed, we destroyed our lists of banknotes numbers, as did the Japanese. The Japanese moved the numbers on to Washington. These numbers eventually appeared on fresh Philippine bills, after the liberation—bills which the Japanese victory spelled out across their backs.

Vote on Union Is Being Taken In Gainers' Plant

Gainers the last of Edmonton's four packing plants involving in the same issue which led the Dominion government to seize control of the packing plant industry, today vote on choice of the union which will represent them at a bargaining agent.

About 500 eligible employees will cast their ballots for or against the United Packinghouse Workers of America (UPWA), the militant union, through which the other Edmonton plants have voted for strike action. Result of the vote will not be known until late tonight, after the night shift have cast their ballots.

CHANGE TO CIO

Swifts employees recently held a vote to determine if they would follow the actions of their bargaining agent and the vote resulted in their changing from the AFL to the CIO. Today their ballots are eligible to vote for their ballots 472-78 in favor of strike action.

Gainers, the only remaining 1800 packing plant outside the CIO, is holding a vote today to choose between the AFL and CIO. Conferences are underway in Winnipeg between union leaders, packing plant authorities and the government-appointed mediator, Mr. Justice S. E. Richards in an endeavor to settle claims of the UPWA, which are represented by their employers. Results of the conference would not be made public until the meeting was completed, according to a press statement by Mr. Justice Richards. No indication was given of when the talks would end, but it is believed a statement would be forthcoming Wednesday.

The union demands reflected by the packing companies, call for a reduction from 48 to 40 hours in the week, work with no overtime pay, take-home pay, a 30 per cent increase in hourly wage rates and the acquisition by the companies of a "company" working agreement.

Union leaders in Edmonton said there were other claims including pay for statutory holidays and paid annual vacations, but the company's agreement to the employees' length of service, but the union's demands, which so far have not been confirmed from official sources.

TO "STAND PAT"

Saturday it was learned from a source close to authorities that the packing companies intend to stand pat in a unified front in the event the demands for the unions, holding that it is in the interest of the general public to have a steady supply of meat and to insure public health production. In the other hand, leaders of the UPWA, representing 12,000 workers in packing plants across Canada, are understood to have claimed before the negotiations conference that their wage-increase claim could be effected by the big three would also give the "best" to

CGE officials warn that production will be slow at first and that it will be some time before householders can obtain new refrigerators from dealers. packing plants without a consequent increase in price to the consumer.

Besides the increase in wages, and reduction in working hours one of the companies' chief objections to the acceptance of the proposed "master" agreement. They are understood to have taken the stand that acceptance of such an agreement would mean a consolidation of power in the hands of a committee or even one person of the union at some point far distant from localities and individual problems of the packing plants.

According to this interpretation, the companies hold that it is essential to have local management equipped with authority to conduct business from an individual point of view, and that centralized authority governing the actions of all packing plant employees would result in further disruption due to unresponsiveness with local conditions. Acceptance by the packing companies of a master agreement would also give the "best" to

Veterans Urge Married Women Give Up Jobs

The question of married women continuing in employment while their husbands were also gainfully employed received a negative response Sunday when members of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association met at a general monthly meeting and a resolution that they be replaced by returning veterans.

The meeting also endorsed a resolution framed by Edmonton post employees seeking opportunity for the general service personnel now employed in the post office in all for examinations, regardless of overseas service.

The new Canadian flag (red ensign and the maple leaf) suggestion at the provincial command convention recently received the approval of the meeting.

Also received approval of the meeting was the decision to hold a Remembrance Day service Nov. 11, and a parade to the cenotaph. The meeting voted a $70 donation to the Poppy Fund and considered a suggestion that the association be represented in the Poppy Fund Board.

Efforts by the provincial government and the city toward easing the housing situation were noted with approval. All future general meetings would be held on the last Sunday of each month, it was decided. The building committee requested the club's new quarters would probably be ready for occupancy in December.

Thirty-eight applicants for membership were approved at the meeting, which was conducted by H. D. Lynn, president.

Boats to Winter At Several Points

Ice conditions in northern rivers will probably mean that many of the boats of the Northern Navigation company will winter at widely separated points where no facilities are available to pull the craft from the water, according to R. W. Broderick, Edmonton manager of the company.

The Radium Queen and one other of the company's boats are at Waterbury, but the Radium Queen will be tied up at Yellowknife for the winter, he said. The Clearwater, which recently left Waterbury, will be a final dash with the last of the season's business. It will be fortunate to reach Frobisher before the ice closes in for the winter.

"I guess we rode our luck too far," Broderick commented ruefully. "But we should know for certain today what will happen."

Detective Dies Of Gun Wounds

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Detective Thomas Stinson of the Ottawa police force died in hospital today following a five-day fight for life which ended when pneumonia complicated the critical lung wound he suffered when shot in a street fight last Wednesday.

The 37-year-old detective was shot point-blank through the shoulder when he grappled with one of the trio who had been prowling about parked cars. Lambert and D'Amour were arrested at the scene after a back-alley chase and gunfire and Henderson was picked up in a downtown rooming house later in the day.

Their connection with the Oct. 22 burglary of three sub-machine guns and six automatic pistols from the Canadian war museum and a district store robbery was established and the war museum and other scattered loot recovered.

Farm Implements To Remain Scarce For Some Time

The recent lifting of the exportation and sale restrictions on farm machinery will not mean that farm implements will appear on the market immediately, it was pointed out by Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials in Ottawa.

There are still shortages of the steel and malleable iron which goes into the making of steel tools, so that the price board predicts that it will be nearly July, 1949, before the market is freed.

Nazi Prisoners Going on Trial In Camp Murder

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Three German prisoners of war, charged with murdering a fellow prisoner in an internment camp near Lethbridge, will appear in civil court at Medicine Hat, Nov. 12, defense headquarters disclosed last night.

The men, Adolf Kratz, Werner Schwab and Johannes Wittinger, were charged with the murder of August Plaszek, whose body was found hanging in the recreation hall of the camp July 22, 1943.

A statement said the trial will climax a lengthy investigation, conducted by both civil police and officers of the defense department.

Plaszek, whose home in Germany was at Nordhausen, was captured in December, 1941, at Tobruk. A military court of inquiry was not convened and for six weeks heard details of trouble at the camp.

"Investigation showed that Plaszek, who at first was thought to have committed suicide, had in fact been murdered and immediately RCMP began to work on the case," the statement said.

No details were released concerning cause of the killing.

The three prisoners, all about 35, have been held in the Lethbridge jail, since being formally charged last Oct. 13. It marked the first time prisoners of war had been charged with murder in Canada.

They were captured while serving with Marshal Rommel's Afrika Corps in North Africa and brought to Canada for internment.

ALL HANDCUFFED—None showed any traces of emotion when a Canadian army interpreter read the charge to them in German. They were all handcuffed and wore regular German army uniforms when they appeared in court before Magistrate Arthur Beaumont, police and army officers, court officials and reporters.

Police said the attempted murder charges against Wilfred D'Amour, 25, Eugene Lambert, 34, and Albert Henderson, 34, all of Ottawa, would probably be raised to murder when the men appear in court Nov. 1.

The 37-year-old detective was shot point-blank through the shoulder when he grappled with one of the trio who had been prowling about parked cars. Nowhere is historical tradition more exemplified than in the dreamy, old world atmosphere of Durham. The cathedral, built by William the Conqueror, forms one of the noblest specimens of Norman architecture in England. Another tradition is the quality of WILLS' English Mixture PIPE TOBACCO.
